Background

While grades assigned to student work are typically final, course managers may change a grade under certain limited circumstances. The situations in which a grade may be changed include:

a) A computational or recording error updated by the grade deadline each semester
b) Changing a NM or I to a letter grade within the allowed 1 year timeframe
c) Pursuant to a grade appeal when it is determined that the grade was the product of factors other than good faith judgment as to the student’s achievement of the course outcomes.

In addition to all students and course managers, the following individuals have specific administrative responsibilities in the implementation of this policy: the Vice Chair of Academic Affairs and Chair of the department in which the course is offered, the Assistant Dean of Experiential Learning, and the Associate Dean for Academic Affairs. Questions about the Grade Appeal Policy should be directed to the Associate Dean for Academic Affairs, and has final say on designating responsibilities should situations occur outside those specified in Part 7.

Goal

The goal of this policy is to establish a uniform process and a well-defined timeframe in which a student may appeal a grade that he/she feels is the product of factors other than the student’s achievement of the course outcomes.

Policy

If a student believes that a grade that he/she has received is a product of factors other than good faith judgment, the student may initiate the following procedure.

1. Within 5 business days of grades being available to students in SURFS, or in the case of experiential grades, CORE ELMS, the student should deliver to the course manager a written explanation of why he/she believes the grade he/she received is a product of factors other than good faith judgment.

   a) This written documentation should explicitly state the action, with respect to the grade, that is requested by the student.
   b) The course manager will return a written response to the student within 5 business days of receipt of the student’s written documentation.

Once PRINTED, this is an UNCONTROLLED DOCUMENT. Refer to the Pharmacy Portal for the latest version.
2. If a response is received within 5 business days and the student does not agree with the course manager’s response, the student may appeal to the course manager’s vice chair of academic affairs within 5 business days.

   a) The student must provide the vice chair of academic affairs with the following written documentation:
      i. The original written explanation of why he/she believes the grade was a product of factors other than good faith judgment as to the student’s achievement of the course outcomes.
      ii. The course manager’s written response iii. Their written explanation as to why he or she disagrees with the course manager’s response.

   b) The vice chair of academic affairs, in consultation with the department chair, will work with the course manager to resolve the situation.

   c) The vice chair of academic affairs and the course manager will review and approve the response.

   d) The vice chair of academic affairs will provide the student and the course manager with a written response within 5 business days of receipt of the student’s documentation.

3. If the course manager does not respond within 5 business days, the student may deliver the original explanation, noting non-response from the course manager, to the course manager’s vice chair of academic affairs.

   a) The vice chair of academic affairs, in consultation with the department chair, will work with the course manager to resolve the situation

   b) The vice chair of academic affairs and the course manager will review and approve the response.

   c) The vice chair of academic affairs will provide the student and the course manager with a written response within 5 business days of receipt of the student’s documentation.

4. If the student disagrees with the explanations of the course manager and vice chair of academic affairs the student may deliver all written documentation for review by the associate dean for academic affairs for didactic courses and the assistant dean for experiential learning for experiential learning courses within 5 business days of receipt of the vice chair of academic affairs.

5. Upon receipt of all written documentation and discussions with the student, course manager, and vice chair of academic affairs, the associate dean of academic affairs for didactic courses and assistant dean of experiential learning for experiential learning courses shall make a determination as to whether the grade was the product of factors other than good faith judgment as to the student’s achievement of the course outcomes.

   a) The associate dean will inform the student, the course manager, the vice chair of academic affairs of this determination in writing within 5 business days. The associate dean’s decision is final and cannot be appealed further.

   b) In the event that the appeal involves an experiential course, the assistant dean for experiential learning will inform the student, the course manager, and the vice chair of academic affairs of this determination in writing within 5 business days. The assistant dean’s decision is final and cannot be appealed further.

6. When a grade change, retesting or other form of student reassessment is found to be appropriate, the course manager is expected to begin implementation of the action within 5 business days.

7. In situations where the same person holds more than one administrative role, the following responsibilities apply. Should situations occur not specified below, the associate dean for academic affairs will designate the appropriate responsibilities.
   a) Should the course manager also be the vice-chair of academic affairs, the chair will replace the vice-chair for academic affairs in this process.
   b) Should the course manager also be the assistant dean for experiential learning, then the associate dean for academic affairs will replace the assistant dean for experiential learning in this process.
   c) Should the course manager also be the associate dean for academic affairs, then the assistant dean for experiential learning will replace the associate dean for academic affairs in this process.
